Safer Sex

Ever Wonder How To Get A Man To Say "Yes" to a Condom?

Here's a sexy way to have him want to use a condom. It's easy! It's Astroglide Personal Lubricant. He'll just love it - use a few drops of Astroglide inside a condom and enjoy an incredible, warm sensation. Astroglide enhances the pleasure for you both, anytime and anywhere lubrication is needed.

Astroglide's long-lasting, whisper-light formula is water soluble and water-based. Plus, no petroleum, which means: no harm to condoms. Simple to apply... easily washes away.

What lubricants are appropriate to use with condoms? Water-based ones. Petroleum-based products (Vaseline, mineral oil and baby oil) are a definite no-no, since they break down latex and can increase the risk of sexually transmitted diseases (or pregnancy). Moisture creams and lotions can interfere with the body's pH levels and cause irritation or infection. Also, oil based products become tacky and sticky and are not water-soluble, which means washing it off is a real messy problem. Astroglide is water-based and water-soluble and is ideal to use also Astroglide washes off easily with water.

Astroglide is unique: it's soothing, moisturising, virtually indistinguishable from natural secretions, provides the maximum level of slipperiness and lasts longer. It retains its lubricating properties for hours. Astroglide is never rough or gritty, doesn't feel sticky, won't interfere with natural pH levels, is non-irritating and leaves no residue. Astroglide is a must-have for every sexually active person.
