

About Astroglide

What is Astroglide you wonder?

Well, it's the next generation of personal lubricants. Water-based and water-soluble, Astroglide is designed to mimic the body's natural fluids. Astroglide enhances sexual pleasure, relieves vaginal dryness and makes condom use more enjoyable.

Astroglide's name reflects its aerospace origins: it was developed by a NASA aerospace chemist who discovered a hyper-slippery polymeric compound while working to create oils for the space shuttle's moving parts.

Who needs Astroglide?

Anyone interested in safer sex that's still pleasurable sex. A personal lubricant like Astroglide makes safer sex more fun. Condom use becomes pleasant, making safer sex a reality for more people. Astroglide's super-lubricating qualities and clean, natural feel can help promote safer sex practices.

Women who experience vaginal dryness.

Regardless of age, dryness can be a problem. Menopause is the most frequent cause, but childbirth/nursing, stress and certain medications including, oral contraceptives, allergy pills - even strenuous exercise can cause dryness. It can be mild or quite severe, with symptoms ranging from burning and itching to bleeding and pain during intercourse. Dryness affects over 1 million Australian women, regrettably, many needlessly "accept" it as a normal part of the ageing process. But it can be easily relieved with Astroglide, a water-based, pH-balanced personal lubricants.

Health Care Providers for office use. Astroglide is also ideal as a lubricant when performing routine pelvic or rectal examinations and for lubricating the instruments used in non-sterile exams. Astroglide's main advantages are ease of application, simple clean-up and sustained lubricating effects without becoming sticky or gritty.

When someone needs vaginal lubricants you need a product that's water soluble and non-bacteriostatic. The non-bacteriostatic requirement is vitally important because a woman with vaginal dryness is continually fighting to keep normal bacteria in her vagina. A great number of personal lubricants inhibit the growth of normal bacteria resulting in repeated vaginal infections and disorders (thrush, cystitis, itching and irritation). Astroglide has an acidic pH which mimics the natural vaginal fluids, so that using Astroglide does not alter the vaginal pH and is important in controlling the growth of harmful micro-organisms in the vagina and decreasing the probability of thrush, cystitis and other associated infections.

Astroglide is the preferred choice for women.

WHY?

- It is not a hormone and does not contain anything that has hormone activity.
- It can be used in conjunction with prescribed treatments because its action does not interfere with them.
- It does not contain animal fat and has not been tested on animals
- It is not sticky.
- It does not stain clothes or sheets.
- It does not become gritty.
- It does not dry out.
- It is water soluble.
- It is compatible with condoms, diaphragms, tampons.
- It offers safe long lasting sustained lubrication.
- It has no odour.

DON'T ACCEPT VAGINAL DRYNESS AS A NORMAL PART OF THE AGEING PROCESS

ASTROGLIDE IS HERE TO GIVE YOU QUICK, EASY RELIEF

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST!

YOU DESERVE THE BEST

USE "ASTROGLIDE"